My experiences getting to Khon Kaen University in Thailand was simple. I made it known to the International Office that I was interested in going and made certain that KKU faxed an application. Once I received the application, I filled it out and faxed it back to KKU. Getting credit at CWRU was easy since it is in the electives book. Working and living in Khon Kaen was fabulous. I was able to choose which electives I wanted when I arrived (OB/GYN and Infectious Diseases). Both were interesting and the attending really tried to explain everything and bridge the language gap. I stayed, along with another CWRU student, with a Thai family. That really made the experience. They were so nice and friendly, and included us in everything they did – whether it was going to the Thai version of Kmart or going to Buddhist temples on Chinese New Year. I highly recommend it!
