Sustainability Ambassadors

The Office for Sustainability seeks motivated undergraduate students to join a team of 10+ Sustainability Ambassadors for the 2017-2018 academic year. Sustainability Ambassadors are tasked with outreach and education for the CWRU community and beyond on sustainability issues with particular focus on CWRU’s Climate Action Plan and goal for climate neutrality by 2050.

Ambassadors will undergo extensive training on broad sustainability concepts, addressing on-campus, regional, and global issues with the intention of becoming sustainability experts. Ambassadors will work together in teams and independently on sustainability-focused projects, such as:

- Organizing a campus freecycle swap event
- Designing and implementing an energy-reduction education plan
- Organizing a zero waste athletic or other large crowd special event
- Crafting a plan to enable CWRU to become a certified Bicycle Friendly University
- Participating in internal and external educational opportunities for the CWRU community around events such as Campus Conservation Nationals, Earth Hour, Earth Day, REScycle, RecycleMania, etc.

The successful candidates will have a passion for sustainability and climate change issues, have excellent communication skills, be detail-oriented, organized, and attentive to deadlines. Candidates who have graphic design, writing, or public speaking skills are encouraged to apply.

Commitment
- September 2017 - end of April 2018
- Minimum of 30 hours per semester, including training and meeting times.

Compensation
- Starting salary is $10/hr.
- Hourly rate increases for each consecutive year you participate
- Sustainability swag and opportunities to network and participate in the broader sustainability community.

Use this Google form link to officially apply. We will contact you for interviews over the summer, if available.

Please contact sustainability@case.edu with any questions!