

Celebrants gathered around Flora Stone Mather

Front Row: Dottie Mitchell, Susan Troia, Gladys Haddad, Lynn Eastwood, Barb Collins, Carolyn Cunningham, Patricia Kilpatrick, "Buster" Oldenburg; Back Row: Sandra Vodanoff, Lynn Singer, Nancy Johnson, Charlotte Guggenheim, Phyllis Asquith Gary, Dorothy Miller

MILLION DOLLAR CHALLENGE

On May 10, 2007, the Flora Stone Mather Alumnae Association Board announced a million dollar challenge gift for the Flora Stone Mather Center for Women. The university must match this amount to receive the funds. "Celebrating Women at Case Western Reserve University" was the theme of a reception at Harcourt House, the home of President Greg Eastwood and his wife Lynn. Board President Charlotte Guggenheim made the announcement.

We are thrilled as well that Patricia Kilpatrick, the first woman Vice President at the university, has agreed to be honorary chair of the initiative set to raise $3 million for the Center.

Celebrating Women also encompasses other initiatives aimed to raise funds for a campus child care center, distinguished professorships, and scholarships for women students.