DESTINATION WEEKEND

Rebecca Weisberg (LAW) is a senior vice president of business affairs for the Warner Bros. Television Group (WBTVG), where she specializes in negotiating complex scripted television deals, including actor, writer and director agreements, as well as licensing deals across multiple platforms. She also manages key exclusive producer relationships, notably with Chuck Lorre and John Wells. Along with her business acumen, Rebecca is passionate about mentoring junior members of the WBTVG Business Affairs team, helping to develop the next generation of negotiators in the industry.

Rebecca's journey with Warner Bros. began nearly 13 years ago when she joined as director of legal affairs for Warner Bros. Television. Before her tenure at Warner Bros., Rebecca earned her Bachelor of Arts from Miami University and went on to graduate from Case Western Reserve University School of Law.

Outside of her professional life, Rebecca enjoys family time in Agoura Hills, California, with her husband, David, and their two children, Zoe (7) and Zachary (4).
