

Karen F. Kaler is an author, graphic designer and avid volunteer. Her husband, Eric W. Kaler, is the 11th president of Case Western Reserve University.

She has a passion for history and is working on a book project titled, History with a Southern Accent. She has written two historical fiction books for children, as well as a monograph on the role of presidential partners in higher education. Her book, Eastcliff: History of Home (University of Minnesota Press), a history of the University of Minnesota president's residence, was published in 2023.

At Case Western Reserve, her particular interests include the women's philanthropic initiative and enhancing the experience of university families.

Born and raised in Nashville, Kaler earned her BFA in studio art from the University of Tennessee.

