

STUDENT TURNING POINT SOCIETY
CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY

Statement of Mission

The Student Turning Point Society is an honored group of undergraduate student leaders committed to promoting the vision of Case Western Reserve University and dedicated to the ideal that students are responsible for leaving the university a better place than they found it,

We aim to act as ambassadors with the Alumni, Friends, and Community of Case Western Reserve University to work towards maintaining and creating traditions that are valuable to the advancement of the University and its reputation.

Statement of Member Responsibilities

As a member of the Student Turning Point Society, it is expected that you will seek to abide by the mission of this organization and commit to the responsibilities of membership. These include but are not limited to the following expectations:

- Attend all general meetings (bi-weekly)
- Attend the retreat in the fall
- Attend all membership related events, including but not limited to: Membership Reception, applications review meeting, and interviews.
- Attend at least two additional events each semester organized by STPS or through STPS where STPS is called on to represent the organization to an outside party.
- Attend any other events the Executive Committee feels necessary, provided the membership has a minimum two (2) week notice.

Valid excuses are acceptable in place of these expected attendances, as determined by the Executive Committee.

If a member cannot maintain this commitment to STPS, that member will be brought before the Executive Committee for a review of that member's position within STPS.

The Executive Committee is committed to raising the Student Turning Point Society to the vision, goals, and expectations as set forth by the membership. It is, therefore, by the request of the members that this document be created and that members be held accountable for deviations from the above expectations.
