

PROVOST SCHOLARS PROGRAM

PREPARE FOR COLLEGE AND BEYOND

The Provost Scholars Program connects high school students from the Cleveland and East Cleveland communities with mentors, tutors, and university resources. This is a free program.

Accepted students come to the Case Western Reserve University (CWRU) campus, in University Circle, to work with professors and university students to build the skills needed to succeed in college and career.

PARTNER SCHOOLS

- Cleveland School of the Arts
- Ginn Academy
- John Hay
- Shaw High School

WORK WITH UNIVERSITY PROFESSORS

CWRU faculty and staff mentors work with Scholars one-on-one to help define and achieve each student's academic and personal goals. Mentors provide support and encouragement, networking opportunities, and coaching on how to prepare for college.

RECEIVE TUTORING FROM COLLEGE STUDENTS

University students, both graduate and undergraduate, work with Scholars to help with:

- Academic work
- SAT/ACT test preparation
- Research college options
- Critical thinking
- Future planning

ADDITIONAL PROGRAM BENEFITS

- Weekly seminars with university experts
- Interpersonal/academic skill development
- Access to summer programs and paid internships
- Time on a world-class university campus
- End of year Grand Field Trip

UNIVERSITY

Excellence. Scholarship. Legacy.

The Provost Scholars Program offers academic enrichment, belonging and a community of caring individuals all working to build meaningful relationships in support of Scholars.

We want you to envision and achieve your goals.

WHAT SCHOLARS ARE SAYING

"I really appreciate the community we have. We all have the same goal: to achieve academically and go to a really good college." - Jay'Vonn, Provost Scholar, Class of 2027

"Take every opportunity. The bonds and relationships are unlike anything else. There are many resources available, people just have to take advantage of them."
- Alex, Provost Scholar, Class of 2027
