

The International Journal of Ethical Leadership

Every worthwhile human endeavor requires the application and embodiment of ethical leadership to succeed, endure, and produce positive outcomes for present and future generations. The articles, conversations, and lectures published in IJEL serve to advance critical discussions of the importance of ethical leadership.

The International Journal of Ethical Leadership

IJEL is an academic journal that expands the transdisciplinary, international conversation on what ethical leadership requires.

Authors

Authors highlight a range of perspectives on ethical leadership in theory and action around the globe.

Annual Call for Papers

IJEL is broad in scope, accepting submissions from academic, professional, and lay perspectives.

Due March 1

CASE WESTERN RESERVE
UNIVERSITY
Inamori International Center
for Ethics and Excellence

IJEL is a print and online, open access publication.
scholarlycommons.law.case.edu/ijel
ISBN: 9781629221045

The International Journal of Ethical Leadership: Special Volumes

Inamori Writing Prize in Military Ethics

Special volumes of IJEL are periodically published in an effort to foster global discussion of pressing issues in military ethics and improve the accessibility of the field. These special volumes highlight the research and scholarship of current and recent graduate and professional students and are published in English, French, and Spanish.

UJMC_5141-02_2024

CASE WESTERN RESERVE
UNIVERSITY
Inamori International Center
for Ethics and Excellence

Contact:

inamoricenter@case.edu
case.edu/inamori/initiatives/military-ethics