Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, Washington, DC

On Loan from Drake University Law School, Sept. 2013 – Aug. 2015 through Intergovernmental Personnel Act (“IPA”)

Policy Analyst, Consumer Education & Engagement, Front office

Full Time Sept. 2013 - July 2014; Half Time July 2014 - Aug. 2015 and Summer 2016

Regulations Attorney, RMR, Regulations

Half Time July 2014 - Aug. 2015

At the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau I served as the policy advisor to one of five Associate Directors of the Bureau and as a regulations attorney. While at the CFPB I worked on numerous policy issues and initiatives. I served as the co-leader of two long-range planning committees: one focused on debt collection and the other on payment systems, which determined the long-range goals for the entire Bureau. I was a regular participant in weekly high-level policy committee meetings. I conducted trainings all over the country on the mortgage servicing rules and brought comments from the field to the regulatory revision process. I performed research for the arbitration study.

- Contracts (Spring 2)

The Sparks Fly Upward Foundation, Inc. and The Sparks Fly Upward (opera)

Founder and Executive Director, 2007-present (volunteer)

Composer and Librettist

The Sparks Fly Upward is an opera that follows three families in Berlin during the Holocaust. The characters in Sparks are composite and based on extensive historical research. The Sparks Fly Upward Foundation is a non-profit corporation whose mission is to educate about the Holocaust, genocide and tolerance through theatrical presentations, ancillary educational displays, exhibits, and accompanying materials and curricula, while paying tribute to the victims and heroes of the Holocaust. In 2008, I served as producer for a fully staged production of Sparks, including grant-writing and fundraising; clearing copyrights for photos used in the production; entering into contracts with the theater, musicians union and the production staff; arranging rental of costumes, lighting equipment and musical instruments; arranging payroll; working with the local community to arrange ancillary educational activities; and giving numerous public lectures about the Holocaust, genocide, and the Sparks project. The production staff consisted of 37 instrumentalists, approximately 20 cast members, 5 artistic staff and a choir. I have continued to seek out performance and educational opportunities in my role as Executive Director.

United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, Ctr. for Advanced Holocaust Studies, Washington, DC

Silberman Fellow, The Silberman Seminar for Law Faculty, June 2007

I was one of 20 law professors selected nationally to participate in a seminar on teaching about law and the Holocaust. After participating in this seminar I developed the course “Holocaust and the Law” which I have taught several times.

Americans for Fairness in Lending, Boston, MA

Chair of the Board of Directors, Fall 2006 to November 2010 (volunteer)

Americans for Fairness in Lending was a non-profit organization dedicated to raising awareness about consumer lending practices. AFFIL worked towards re-regulation of the consumer financial industry, including working towards the creation of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. I served as Board Chair for the entire life of the organization.

National Consumer Law Center/Americans for Fairness in Lending, Boston, MA

Consultant, Fall 2005 - Spring 2006 (consultant)

As consultant to the National Consumer Law Center, I served as the initial organizer of new non-profit consumer protection grass roots organization, which ultimately became Americans for Fairness in Lending.

National Consumer Law Center, National Stop Predatory Lending Initiative, Boston, MA

Member of Steering Committee and Research Working Group, 2004 – 2005 (volunteer)

National Association of Consumer Advocates, Washington, DC

Member of the Board of Directors and Secretary, November 1999 - November 2004 (volunteer)

Arizona State University, Phoenix, AZ

Adjunct Professor of Law, Spring 1995, 1996

Washburn University School of Law, Topeka, KS

Associate Professor of Law, August 1992 - July 1995

Community Legal Services, Phoenix, AZ

Managing Attorney, Urban Indian Law Office, April 1991 - June 1992

Staff Attorney, March 1989 - April 1991

As a staff and managing attorney with the Urban Indian Law Office I handled many different types of civil cases for Native American clients with legal issues in Maricopa County, AZ. These cases included consumer and student loan cases, domestic relations cases, home ownership cases and residential rental cases. I also supervised a five-person staff, including one other attorney and several law clerks, a paralegal, an intake worker and a secretary. Outstanding Attorney award, 1990.

Brown & Bain, Phoenix, AZ

Associate Attorney, Aug. 1987 – March 1989

Baker & Hostetler, Cleveland, OH

Copyright and Trademark Paralegal, 1982-83
