UNVEILING THE RISE, GLORY, AND DECLINE OF AN ANCIENT LANGUAGE

Rabbi Daniel Isaac, PhD, Instructor of Lifelong Learning

Wednesdays, June 4–June 18

10:30 a.m.–noon ET

In this lecture series, Rabbi Dr. Daniel Isaac explores the importance of Judaeo-Arabic in Jewish history. He will begin by taking us through where, when and what is Judaeo-Arabic. Next, he will present the Judaeo-Arabic writings in translation to demonstrate the significance of the language to Jewish history. Lastly, he will discuss Judaeo-Arabic today, its use in scholarship and decline as a spoken language by Jews in Arab lands. The series will include material from the world-famous Cairo Geniza, short films, and recordings of the language as spoken today.

REMOTE COURSE

SILAS HOUSE'S SOUTHERNMOST

Monica Miller, Associate Professor of English and Director of Graduate Writing Programs at Middle Georgia State University

Wednesdays, June 4–June 18

2–3:30 p.m. ET

In Poet Laureate Silas House's award-winning 2019 novel Southernmost, the floods that devastate the Smoky Mountains of East Tennessee are just the beginning of the storms in the novel. In the aftermath of natural disaster, Pastor Asher Sharp provides shelter to a gay couple, leading to more storms within his evangelical Christian church. The novel follows Pastor Sharp as he flees his life as it falls apart to a new community in Key West, where he must make tough decisions. The novel will be supplemented by materials about House, Appalachian Studies generally, and LGBTQ Appalachian literature specifically.

ISAIAH 53: THE CONTROVERSY BETWEEN THE MESSIANIC PROPHECY OF JUDAISM AND CHRISTIANITY

Todd Rosenberg, Attorney, Instructor of Lifelong Learning

Wednesdays, June 4–June 25

7–8:30 p.m. ET

“Isaiah 53” may be the most controversial passage between Jews and Christians. Did you ever wonder how Christians got the idea that “Jesus died to atone for our sins?” Many Christians point to “Isaiah 53” (technically Isaiah 52:13-53:12) as the source that the “Suffering Servant” will die to atone for sins. Who is the “Suffering Servant?” Is it Israel or the Messiah or both? Does Jesus fit the criteria for the Suffering Servant? Come with lots of questions. Reading materials will be provided to students prior to the course.

THE U.S. AND ITS MAJOR ECONOMIC CHALLENGES

Earl Leiken, J.D., Instructor of Lifelong Learning

Fridays, June 6–June 27

(No class June 20, Class will meet Monday, June 23 instead)

10 a.m.–noon ET

This course will examine the major economic challenges confronting the U.S. today. This will include consideration of issues relating to the control of inflation; economic growth and jobs; the national debt; the funding of services including health care, Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security; tariffs and international trade. With respect to each issue, we will consider the views of traditional economists and the policies that are being implemented by the Trump administration. Finally, we will discuss the question of what all of this portends for America’s economic future.

THE MYSTERY OF HEBREW NUMEROLOGY

Rabbi Ari Sollish, Director, The Torah Center of Atlanta

Mondays, June 9–June 23

7–8:30 p.m. ET

Gematria is a Kabbalistic tradition that interprets Biblical verses on the basis of the numerical equivalents of Hebrew letters. Until now, these teachings were locked away, reserved for those who could decipher the ancient mystical texts. Not anymore. Join us for a thrilling three-part journey inside the world of Hebrew numerology. Learn the rules that govern Hebrew numerology, gain the skills to decode letters, words, and phrases, and discover astonishing secret meanings that lie hidden beneath the biblical text. We will expose the secrets of numerology and its mysticism. Reading materials will be provided to students prior to the class.

“FROM ALBANY TO BUFFALO”: THREE IMPORTANT EVENTS THAT OCCURRED IN THAT REGION AND WHICH SHAPED THE WORLD WE LIVE IN TODAY

Irving Kushner, Professor Emeritus of Medicine, CWRU

Wednesday, June 11

10 a.m. Breakfast | 10:30 a.m.–noon Lecture

Many of us are familiar with the line “From Albany to Buffalo,” from the song beginning “I’ve got a mule and her name is Sal.” Some of us even sang it in grade school. But only a few of us are aware that many important events occurred in upper New York State. Three of them are: 1. a series of military engagements that ultimately determined the outcome of the Revolutionary War, 2. the construction of the Erie Canal, and 3. the first women’s rights convention in 1848. Their consequences shaped the United States, and indeed, the world we live in today.

BOOK DISCUSSION: CONDEMNED

Ayesha Bell Hardaway, J.D., Professor of Law and Director, Social Justice Institute, School of Law, Case Western Reserve University

Thursday, June 12

10:30 a.m.–noon ET

Keith LaMar has been on death row, in solitary confinement, after an investigation resulted in his conviction for crimes he allegedly committed during the Lucasville Prison Uprising in 1993, which resulted in the death of a prison guard and several inmates. LaMar has consistently maintained his innocence, claiming that he was not involved in the killings, and there has been growing support from activists, lawyers, and human rights organizations who argue that his conviction was based on a flawed legal process.

REMOTE LECTURE

JEWISH AMSTERDAM: THEN AND NOW

Emile Schrijver, General Director of the Jewish Cultural Quarter in Amsterdam

Thursday, June 12

1:30–3 p.m. ET

The city of Amsterdam has a rich Jewish history, starting at the end of the sixteenth century, with the arrival of the first group of Sephardic Jews. The lecture will discuss Jewish cultural heritage from the Dutch capital, including books, ritual objects and synagogues, as well as monuments from the newly developed National Holocaust Museum. Recently, Amsterdam has also hit the news with a number of harsh outbursts of antisemitism. The lecture will include the current Jewish population's struggle in the Netherlands, and the most recent developments in light of current events.

MIDDLE EAST UPDATE

Peter Haas, PhD, Abba Hillel Silver Professor Emeritus, CWRU

Monday, June 23

10:30 a.m.–noon ET

Over the last year and a half there has been increasing talk about needing to create a “new Middle East.” The wars in Gaza and South Lebanon, the ongoing civil war in Syria, the political paralysis in Iraq, the violent Houthi regime in Yemen and the political stalemate in Iraq have lead to widespread social, political and economic decline in the entire region. This has lead other players to vie for influence, like Turkey, Iran, and Russia. What has been happening over the last few months, where is it leading, and what might emerge?

ANALYZING MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

Michael Walczak, J.D., Instructor of Lifelong Learning

Wednesdays, June 25–July 30

1:30–3 p.m. ET

In the PBS documentary presentation of Ken Burns’ Baseball, James Earl Jones stated, “sophisticated statistical analysis now affects every facet of Major League Baseball.” This class will examine these new tools being employed by general managers, managers and others to evaluate major league performance. Against a backdrop of more than one hundred years of play, questions will be addressed: Do clutch hitters actually exist? Can a team’s performance be predicted before the season starts? Are modern players as good as the old-timers? How do we evaluate managers? Are the Guardians a “cheap” organization? From bunts to zone ratings, from Bill James to Moneyball, come prepared to see the game as you’ve never seen it before.

CREATION, BIRTH, AND REBIRTH: COMPARISONS OF HOW DIFFERENT FAITHS VIEW THE WORLD

Sean Crum, Instructor of Lifelong Learning

Thursday, June 26

1:30–3 p.m. ET

Inspired by the exhibition of “Creation and (Re)Birth” at the Cleveland Museum of Art, on view through July 27, this lecture examines how visual artists throughout history have presented unique views on the creation of the universe, our relationship to divine beings, how our different faiths guide our moral compass, and our concepts of an afterlife. The art of Christians, Jews, Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists, and ancient civilizations have all contributed to the visualization of these concepts and demonstrate not only their differences but also a surprising unity of belief between them.

SOLVING POLITICAL CONFLICTS THROUGH THE LENS OF COMPLEXITY SCIENCE

Steve Klein, PhD, Instructor, Tel Aviv University, and Haaretz English Edition Senior Editor

Wednesdays, August 13–August 27

1:30–3 p.m. ET

Many people, including world and national leaders, seem to think of the world in atomistic terms: like a clock, they can take a simplistic action to manipulate one component. But this attitude simplifies the world, and misses the complexity of relationships that are intertwined. Complexity science offers a lens through which to have a more nuanced understanding of conflict and how trying to address one problem creates new, unforeseen problems. This class will delve into complexity science and the tools it provides to expand our understanding of how all conflicts in general, but political conflicts in particular evolve and become ever more unpredictable as they become more complex.
