

Case Western Reserve University · School of Medicine

Dean's Scholars Program

Postdoctoral Training Program

Our innovative dean's scholars program provides recent PhD graduates from underrepresented populations (as defined by the National Institutes of Health) with a five-year postdoctoral training program that provides educational and research resources for advancement to tenure-track faculty positions at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine.

Attracting top candidates from both CWRU and peer institutions, the program provides rigorous postdoctoral training and career development training—and a direct pathway to tenure-track faculty positions.

Application Deadline: March 1

Award:

The fellowship provides a supplement to the postdoc stipend over and above the NIH standards of $5,000 for the first three years (Step 1) and $10,000 for years four and five (Step 2). The program also provides the scholar with additional funds for laboratory use ($15,000 annually for Step 1 and $40,000 annually for Step 2).

For more information, contact Mark Jackson, PhD at deanscholars@case.edu
or visit case.edu/medicine/grad-education/postdoctoral-training/deans-scholars-program

UMC_4775-01_2022

CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY
School of Medicine