

Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine

Dean's Scholars Program

Postdoctoral Training Program

The Dean's Scholars Program will recruit recent URP* PhD graduates to a five year post-doctoral training program that provides educational and research resources for advancement to tenure-track faculty positions within the SOM. This program provides a direct path for increasing and sustaining diversity in the academic workforce at CWRU. The Dean's Scholars program provides a rigorous coordinated curriculum specifically designed to maximize the success of URP* postdoctoral scholars transitioning to faculty positions at CWRU. The program will attract top talent from CWRU and peer institutions for their postdoctoral and career development training. It will provide the necessary institutional support to recruit and retain outstanding scholars into the ranks of tenure-track faculty and to ensure success as they establish their independent research programs at CWRU.

*URP as defined by NIH: <https://diversity.nih.gov/about-us/population-underrepresented>

Award

The fellowship provides a supplement to the post-doc stipend over and above the NIH standards of $5,000 for the first three years (Step 1) and $10,000 for years 4 and 5 (Step 2). The program also provides the scholar with additional funds for the laboratory ($15,000 annually for Step 1 and $40,000 annually for Step 2).

Eligibility

Recent PhD grads from underrepresented populations.

Apply

cwru.infoready4.com/CompetitionSpace#competitionDetail/1851025

Ready to learn more? Reach out at deanscholars@case.edu.

case.edu/medicine/grad-education/postdoctoral-training/deans-scholars-program

