

Biography:

Kathleen Ross-Alaolmolki

Kathleen Ross-Alaolmolki, PhD, RN is Professor Emeritus of the University of Akron where she was Associate Dean of Academics for the newly formed College of Health Professions. Previously she served as the Senior Associate Dean of Academic Programs in the College of Nursing. Since retirement she served as a consultant on curriculum development and accreditation and continues as a reviewer for the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE). Her interests include innovative curricular advances in nursing education with integration of Interprofessional concepts and technological advances to support excellence in teaching and learning for collaborative professional practice. She received a Diploma in Nursing, Montreal General Hospital; BSN from the College of Mount St. Joseph; MSN and PhD from Case Western Reserve University and was a Post-Doctoral Fellow and Robert Wood Johnson Clinical Nurse Scholar at the University of Rochester; In 2000 she completed a Certificate program in Distance Education, Teaching and Learning from the School of Education, University of Wisconsin, Madison.