The background image shows a simulation center. In the foreground, several students are seen from behind, sitting at a control desk with multiple computer monitors. One monitor displays a heart rate graph, and another shows a medical scan. The student in the center has a shirt that says "MetroHealth Simulation Center". In the background, through a large window, a simulated hospital room is visible with patients in beds, medical equipment, and a clock on the wall. A large yellow "M" logo is visible on the wall in the background room.
