Provost Scholars Career Panel

Purpose

The purpose of this seminar is to expose the Provost Scholars to different career paths in business, law, medicine, nursing, dentistry and music. Panel members will discuss their background and experience in their respective fields. In addition, Scholars will learn about potential career options for a student majoring in one of these academic paths. All of the panel members are affiliated with Case Western Reserve University.

Information about the Provost Scholars Program

Founded in January 2013, the Provost Scholars Program is a partnership between Case Western Reserve University (CWRU), Heritage Middle School (Heritage), and Shaw High School, in the East Cleveland City Schools. The program aims to help the Scholars expand their creative and critical thinking and problem solving, strengthen their study habits and time management, improve their interpersonal proficiencies, and explore additional ways of thinking about educational pathways and career options through mentoring and relationship building with CWRU faculty and staff. CWRU Provost William Baeslack and Ms. Mryna Corley, Superintendent of East Cleveland City Schools are the program leaders.
