Law Enforcement, Security and Corrections Experience

Since 1992, I have provided consultation and training to police and probation departments, school security and correctional/residential facilities to enhance services, programs and job-related skills. My areas of focus have been the effects of violence exposure on citizens and officers, as well as best practices in providing positive interactions with and services to youths and their families. Below are selected examples of previous work:

- Trained Cleveland Division of Police officers to interact with residents to establish a 24-hour presence in high-crime areas through occupying former crack houses seized through court orders (Project RAP).
- Provided classes in the Cleveland Police Academy on the effects of violence exposure on citizens and officers.
- Assisted in curriculum development and participated in teaching 1,600 Cleveland police officers in an all department mandatory training, "Youth-Focused Policing."
- Aided in the development of a model for command level and line law enforcement officers to understand, identify and manage violence-related stress experienced in police work. The model was developed in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Defense, and co-facilitated with Department of Defense Army officers.
- Helped develop and implement the Police Assisted Referral Program with the Cuyahoga County Metropolitan Housing Authority Police Department. The program trains officers to interact with youth and families in crisis in order to facilitate police referrals to social services.
- Trained and provided consultation for security staff at Cleveland Heights/University Heights High School and the Cleveland Municipal School District.

- Provided training in interacting with aggressive youth and a model for residential programming at the Youth Development Center, Ohio Department of Youth Services
- Provided training for both juvenile and adult Cuyahoga County probation officers
- Helped develop and provided training for officers in Cleveland's 3rd 4th and 5th Cleveland Police Districts for a juvenile court domestic violence diversion program "Coordinated Approach to Low-Risk Misdemeanors" (project CALM)
- Committee Chair, Juvenile Detention Alternative Initiative evaluation of Cuyahoga County's Juvenile Detention Facility (Project of the Annie E. Casey Foundation).
- Member, Conditions of Confinement Committee, Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court
- Developed and provided training for police and security officers at Case Western Reserve University
- Helped develop the curriculum and provided training for Cleveland Division of Police, "De-escalation Techniques for Youth and Young Adults"
