

Join Our Community of Change Agents

At Case Western Reserve University, we're looking for our next cohort of Child Welfare Fellows.

This fall, the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences—the #9 social work school in the U.S. and #1 in Ohio—will relaunch its Child Welfare Fellows Program to educate and empower public child welfare employees so they can advocate for Ohio's most vulnerable.

As a fellow in our master's program, you'll:

- Join our Intensive Weekend program that's designed for working professionals like you (travel to Cleveland for classes is required just once a month);
- Receive at least 50% off your tuition;
- Focus especially on child welfare leadership and supervision;
- Participate in programming on topics such as advocacy/policy analysis, asking the right types of questions, analyzing data, writing reports and more;
- Learn from and be mentored by some of the country's top social work minds;
- And more.

Interested in becoming a change agent for children in Ohio?
We're looking for full-time public child welfare staff in Ohio with a firm commitment to their positions to join our school this fall.

Apply by May 15

Visit our website to learn more and apply today.

case.edu/socialwork

JACK, JOSEPH AND MORTON MANDEL
SCHOOL OF APPLIED SOCIAL SCIENCES

CASE WESTERN RESERVE
UNIVERSITY