MAKOM

Under Shoshana's leadership, MAKOM has built a network of 240 diverse communities to improve the residents' lives through education, arts and culture, jobs, and more. About a third of the MAKOM communities were founded by women who saw a need in their communities and stepped up to fill that need. Now, over half of the next generation's leaders are women. She turned small, unaffiliated, but successful programs into compelling stories to gain presence and support throughout the region. MAKOM will soon become the largest organization to improve the lives of Israelis on the peripheral areas.

Melody J. Stewart, PhD (GRS '08)
Justice
Supreme Court of Ohio

Melody Stewart was elected in November 2018 to a full term as the 161st Justice to serve on the Supreme Court of Ohio. Justice Stewart is the first African American woman elected to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Prior to joining the Supreme Court, Justice Stewart served on the Eighth District Court of Appeals — elected to an unexpired term in 2006 and twice reelected to full terms. She served as the court's Administrative Judge in 2013. Justice Stewart has more than 30 years of combined administrative, legal, and academic experience.

Lee Fisher (MNO '05)

Dean and Joseph C. Hostetler-BakerHostetler Chair in Law

Cleveland-Marshall College of Law at Cleveland State University

Fisher's diverse career has spanned the private, public, nonprofit, and academic sectors. In addition to serving as Dean, he is Senior Fellow, Cleveland State University's Levin College of Urban Affairs, and Urban Scholar, College of Urban Planning and Public Affairs and the Great Cities Institute, University of Illinois at Chicago. Fisher served as President/CEO of CEOs for Cities, nationwide innovation network for city success, for six years.

Fisher clerked for Judge Paul C. Weick of the U.S Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit. He has decades of experience in legal practice, most extensively with Cleveland-based Hahn Loeser as Of Counsel from 1978-1990 and Partner from 1995-1999. He served as Ohio Attorney General and was the first Ohio Attorney General to personally argue cases before the Ohio Supreme Court and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit.

In addition to serving as Attorney General, Fisher has served as Ohio Lt. Governor; Director, Ohio Department of Development; Chair, Ohio Third Frontier Commission; State Senator; and State Representative. He also served as President and CEO of the Centers for Families and Children. Fisher is a graduate of Oberlin College and served on the Oberlin College Board of Trustees for 12 years.

Phyllis Harris (MNO '05)

Executive Director

LGBT Community Center Greater Cleveland

Phyllis "Seven" Harris has nearly two decades of leadership experience in local nonprofits, includes program management and development, fundraising, and senior-level executive positions. For many years, she also has played a strong role as an advocate in Cleveland's LGBT community.

Previously Ms. Harris worked at Planned Parenthood of Northeast Ohio, where she oversaw youth engagement programming. She has served as director of education and advocacy with the Cleveland Rape Crisis Center, was vice president of programs and interim CEO with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Greater Cleveland, and capital campaign director at the Cleveland Sight Center. Her involvement with Cleveland nonprofit leadership includes roles on the governing boards of the LGBT Center, SPACES, and Community Shares of Greater Cleveland.

Hannah Griswold McFarland (MNO '93)
Strategic Development Consultant

A strategic development consultant with over 20 years of experience in fundraising and brand creation. She founded the New York Public Library's Young Lions and made it her unlikely mission that of transforming scenesters into philanthropists. In 1999, she wrangled Ethan Hawke to help turn the library into a center of literary life for New Yorkers in their twenties and thirties. In 2001, McFarland was hired as a consultant to Carnegie Hall where she reengineered the institution's young donors program—featuring “members-only” nights with Lou Reed and RZA—boosting membership by nearly a third. She co-founded, The Studio Circle Donor Program, to raise money for young dancers who needed scholarship funds to attend the School of American Ballet.

Flavio Marsiglia, PhD (GRS '91), AASWSW Fellow
Regents Professor
School of Social Work in Arizona State University

He is the founder and director of the Global Center for Applied Health Research. The Global Center conducts intervention health research in partnership with universities and communities in Burundi, China, Guatemala, Israel, Kenya, Mexico, Spain, Taiwan and Uruguay.

Marsiglia is the principal investigator of the Specialized Center (U54) grant on health disparities research at the Southwest Interdisciplinary Research Center (SIRC). Marsiglia's research on cultural diversity and youth substance use is widely recognized, highly influential in the prevention field, and credited with a measurable reduction in drug use and other high-risk behaviors among youth in Arizona, across the US and in other countries.

Susan Sternad-Basel (MSSA '87)
President
S&B Solutions, LLC

Sternad-Basel's career journey from social work to the armed forces is notable—she was the former deputy chief data officer of the United States Defense Intelligence Agency. She is currently the president of S&B Solutions, LLC.

A devoted volunteer, Sternad-Basel received the Mandel School's 2021 Distinguished Service Award. One of the Dean's Discretionary Awards, this award is not issued every year—only when there is a clear individual who shines and embodies the criteria. It is presented to a social worker for outstanding contributions to the social work profession, the community and the Mandel School.

Gautam N. Yadama, PhD (GRS '90, MSSA '85), AASWSW Fellow
Professor and the Dean of Boston College School of Social Work
Boston College

His research is focused on understanding poverty and environment dynamics, and interventions to address the attendant social, economic, environment, and health outcomes. He has implemented a randomized control trial to study the sustainability of new and efficient energy technologies in rural India to reduce household air pollution and improve health and wellbeing of women and children.

He is using social network analysis and community based system dynamics to study how interventions to reduce pollution are adopted and sustained by the poor in rural India. He is a member of the Implementation Science Network on Clean Cooking at the Fogarty Institute of the National Institutes of Health, USA.

Georgia J. Anetzberger, PhD, ACSW, FGSA (GRS '86, MSSA '80),

NASW Pioneer

Consultant

Private Practice

She has authored over one hundred scholarly publications on such subjects as home and community-based services and health care innovations. Her special interest and expertise is in elder abuse, where she has spent over forty years addressing the problem, initially as an adult protective services worker then administrator and most recently as a researcher and educator, conducting approximately two dozen related research projects.

Elaine Nichols (MSSA '80)

Senior Curator of Culture

Smithsonian's National Museum of African American History and Culture

She helped to develop the inaugural collections of the museum. Her work at NMAAHC includes responsibility for curating costumes, textiles and decorative arts at the museum, which includes the Black Fashion Museum collection founded by Lois Alexander Lane and the Ebony Fashion Fair collection created by Eunice Johnson.

Claudia Coulton, PhD (GRS '78), NASW Pioneer, AASWSW Fellow
Distinguished University Professor and the Lillian F. Harris Professor
Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel School of Applied Social Sciences,
Case Western Reserve University

She is founding director of the Center on Urban Poverty and Community Development. Under her leadership, the Center has built a model capacity to provide data for community initiatives and research, including a dynamic neighborhood indicators portal (NEO CANDO), a parcel-based collaborative action platform (NST) and a longitudinal multi-agency record linkage system (CHILD).

Coulton is a founder of the National Neighborhood Indicators Partnership and has served as research adviser to many community change programs including Aspen Institute's Roundtable on Comprehensive Community Initiatives, Annie E. Casey Foundation's Making Connections program and the Invest in Children initiative.

Wilma Peebles-Wilkins, PhD, DPNAP (MSSA '71), NASW Pioneer, CWRU Trailblazer 2019
Dean Emeritus
Boston University

Dr. Peebles-Wilkins has more than 40 years of experience as a social work practitioner, administrator, and educator. She has worked both in the public and private sectors as well as in an acute care hospital in pediatrics. In 2000, she was inducted into the National Academies of Practice as a Distinguished Practitioner because of her health care advocacy work. In 2002, she received the "Greatest Contributions to Social Work Education" award from the Massachusetts Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers.

Geneva B. Johnson (MSSA '57), NASW Pioneer, CWRU Trailblazer 2022
Former President and CEO, Family Service America (1983-1994)

Johnson led a long and distinguished career in social work and nonprofit management. Starting as program director with the YWCA in Houston, Texas, she became a successful nonprofit leader. She then served United Ways in Pennsylvania, Delaware and New York before joining the United Way of America in 1978 as a senior vice president responsible for strategic long-term planning and public policy—she was United Way's first female and African American senior vice president at a time when there were few visible African American women leaders.

An inspiring alumna of the Mandel School, she was nominated as a CWRU Trailblazer in 2022, awarded the Grace Longwell Coyle Award in 2021 and was inducted into the school's Hall of Achievement in 2015. Johnson was given the highest alumni honor at her undergraduate alma mater, Albright University, when she was awarded an honorary doctor of humanities. She also received an honorary doctor of humane letters from Alvernia University.

THANK YOU

“Many segments of society are eager to advance more just and inclusive change. At the Mandel School, our alumni are the catalysts to the transformation our society needs.

Thank you for being one of our most important partners as we continue to advance the fields of social work and nonprofit organizations.”
