

SNAP – Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program

2025 Eligibility

What is SNAP?

- SNAP provides food benefits to low-income individuals/families to supplement their grocery budget so they can afford the nutritious food essential to health and well-being.

Who is in a SNAP household?

- Everyone who lives together AND purchases and prepares meals together is grouped as one SNAP household.
- Spouses and children under 22 are always included in the same household regardless of meal purchases and preparation.

Non-Citizens

- SNAP eligibility has never been extended to undocumented non-citizens. The Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 limits eligibility for SNAP benefits to U.S. Citizens and certain lawfully present non-citizens. Generally, to qualify for SNAP, non-citizens must meet one of the following criteria:
 - o Have lived in the United States for at least 5 years
 - o Be receiving disability-related assistance or benefits
 - o Be children under 18

Are students eligible for SNAP?

Generally, students attending an institution of higher education more than half-time are only eligible for SNAP if they meet an exemption. The institution of higher education determines what is considered 'half-time' enrollment. Students who meet an exemption must also meet all other SNAP eligibility requirements. If you are enrolled less than half-time, the student restrictions on SNAP eligibility do not apply to you. If you are a student and you meet SNAP eligibility requirements, you may be eligible for SNAP if you meet one of the following exemptions:

- Work at least 20 hours a week in paid employment
- Participate in a state or federally-financed work-study program
- Are under age 18 or age 50 or older
- Are physically or mentally unfit to work
- Care for a child under the age of 6
- Care for a child aged 6 to 11 and lack the necessary childcare enabling you to attend school and work 20 hours a week or participate in work-study
- Are a single parent enrolled full-time in college and taking care of a child under 12
- Receiving Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF)

I'm on a campus meal plan. Can I still get SNAP?

If a meal plan covers less than half of your meals, you may be eligible for SNAP.

What are the SNAP income limits?

To qualify for SNAP, households have to pass both a gross income, or initial eligibility, test as well as a net income eligibility test. Gross Monthly Income Limit is equal to total take home pay per month. Net Monthly Income Limit is equal to total take home after deductions. Deductions can include rent/mortgage payments, childcare costs, medical expenses, costs fuel to heat and cook with, electricity cost, water fees, basic fees for one telephone, and more. Households with higher gross incomes will still need enough deductions to get below the net income limit (100% FPL) to qualify for a benefit.

Household Size	Gross Monthly Income Limit	Net Monthly Income Limit
1	$2,609	$1,305
2	$3,525	$1,763
3	$4,442	$2,221
4	$5,359	$2,680
Each additional member	+$917	+$459

What are the SNAP work requirements?

Students enrolled at least half-time are exempt from work requirements including the Able-Bodied Adults without dependents time limit and mandatory employment and training if they meet a student exemption.

For those enrolled less than half-time, people must meet work requirements to be eligible for SNAP. These work requirements include registering for work, not voluntarily quitting a job or reducing hours, and taking a job if offered. Able-bodied adults without dependents are required to work for at least 20 hours per week to receive SNAP benefits for more than 3 months in a 36-month period.

What resources can I have and still get SNAP benefits?

Currently, households may have $3,000 in countable resources (such as cash or money in a bank account). However, certain resources are not counted when determining eligibility for SNAP. These include a home and lot, resources for people who receive SSI, resources for people who receive TANF, and most retirement and pension plans.

In most cases, once you submit your application, Jobs and Family Services will process it and send you a notice telling you whether you are eligible for benefits within 30 days. Check your benefits.ohio.gov for notifications if you applied online. How do I receive SNAP benefits?

You will receive a monthly maximum allotment. For example, for a one-person household, the maximum monthly allotment is $298. You will receive these SNAP benefits on an Electronic Benefits Transfer card, which works like a debit card. Benefits are automatically loaded into your account each month. You can use your EBT card to buy groceries at authorized food stores and retailers. Once you receive your Ohio Direction Card (EBT Card), you must activate it. Call 1.866.386.3071 to activate and create a PIN. You will need your 16-digit number from the front of your card, your social security number, and your date of birth to activate.

You can use this card like a debit card where SNAP/EBT is accepted. You can see how much is left on your card at the bottom of your receipt when you check out or by calling 1.866.386.3071. The Oh SNAP app (free to download on the App Store or Google Play) provides information on SNAP Basics, Applying for SNAP, Keeping SNAP Benefits, Using your EBT Card, more food resources, and SNAP Smart Tips. You can also go to <https://www.joinproviders.com/> or download the free Providers mobile app to see nearby stores and farmers markets that take EBT and check your balance online.

You will receive a notice that tells you how long you will receive SNAP benefits for; this is called your certification period. Before the certification period ends, you will receive another notice that says you must recertify to continue receiving benefits. Cuyahoga County JFS will provide you with information about how to recertify.
