News & Announcements

foodNEST 2.0 Research Published in BMC Public Health

Congratulations to foodNEST 2.0 researchers on their publication in BMC Public Health, published in July 2021. This research, conducted with partners from Nationwide Children's Hospital, is focused on the identification of factors related to food insecurity and the implications for social determinants of health screenings in healthcare settings. This study found that along with referrals to sign-up for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), healthcare providers can further address screening-identified food insecurity through provision of transportation supports and linkages to other social services while collaborating on community initiatives to promote convenient and easy access to healthy foods. ## Research Published in the Journal of Agriculture, Food Systems, and Community Development

Indicators of readiness and capacity for implementation of healthy food retail interventions was published in JAFSCD in May, 2021. Authors Jen Sanchez-Flack, PhD, Kakul Joshi, MPH, Eunlye Lee, PhD, MSW, and Darcy Freedman, PhD, MPH discuss healthy food retail (HFR) interventions and the tools needed to assess, tailor, and implement HFR plans in diverse environments. Research for this publication is supported by the Building Capacity for Obesity Prevention (BCOP) project and is synthesized into the PSEREADI tool. Read the full paper here.
