

View this email in your browser

The Swetland Scoop

February 2022

News & Announcements

2021 Swetland Center Annual Report

The Swetland Center continues Mary Ann Swetland's legacy by building partnerships to find and scale solutions to redress the environment's disparate impact in neighborhoods within Greater Cleveland and beyond. We are excited to share with you our work and are looking forward to continuing to partner in the future.

See what Swetland has accomplished in 2021!

Swetland Center 2022 Summer Internship Application Open Now!

The Swetland Center is committed to providing training and professional development opportunities to educate the next generation of public health researchers and increase research capacity within our community. Are you interested in:

- Community systems science to advance environmental health equity?
- An experience that will enhance your awareness of the environment's disparate impact on communities?

Our 2022 Internship will follow an in-person model and is open to any student interested in community based environmental health research. Find details about our internship opportunity or apply by Friday, February 11th.

Daniel Lewis Ravin, MD Award Application Now Open!

We're delighted to announce the application for the 2022–2023 Daniel Lewis Ravin, MD Award is now open! This opportunity is open to current MD students and PhD candidates in CWRU's School of Medicine who are committed to furthering their professional development in the fields of occupational or environmental health.

The deadline to apply is March 1, 2022 at 5 pm EST and additional information including awardee commitments and eligibility, important dates, and the application can be found here.

Publication Announcement: Health outcomes in redlined versus non-redlined neighborhoods: A systematic review and meta-analysis

Congratulations to Swetland researchers on their publication of Health outcomes in redlined versus non-redlined neighborhoods: A systematic review and meta-analysis in the Journal of Social Science & Medicine. This article presents the first systematic review and meta-analysis comparing health outcomes in redlined versus non-redlined neighborhoods in U.S. cities. Read the full article here!

Be sure to keep up with Swetland news through our online News & Events page!

February Swetland Seminar:
Swetland Center 2021 Year in Review
February 22 | 9:00 – 10:00 am

February's seminar will highlight the work of the Swetland Center in 2021 in addition to a presentation of the Center's Racial Equity Assessment in response to the findings from our 2021 Racial Equity Retreat. Presenters will include multiple Swetland Center staff and trainees. Learn more about this seminar and register here.

Swetland Spotlight

Food System Fellow Alum, Antunesia Harris, Takes on New Role as Community Engagement Coordinator at MidTown Cleveland

We are excited to congratulate our 2021 Food Systems Change Fellow, Antunesia Harris, on her new role as Community Engagement Coordinator at MidTown Cleveland. Through working with MidTown's members, stakeholders, businesses and organizations, residents, and visitors, Midtown's team will utilize the diverse assets to construct a dynamic neighborhood, working to unifying Cleveland's communities. Read the full story here.

Follow us on Twitter

Visit our Website

SubscribePast IssuesTranslate ▼

© Copyright Case Western Reserve University
Cleveland, Ohio 44106 | 216.368.1800