

CASE WESTERN RESERVE UNIVERSITY/FISK UNIVERSITY
EXCHANGE STUDENT APPLICATION

The Case Western Reserve University/Fisk University Program offers students a unique educational opportunity to experience life at Case Western Reserve University and Fisk University. The exchange program is designed to allow up to four Fisk undergraduate students to enroll for one semester at Case Western Reserve. Students participating in the exchange will normally be in their third, fourth, or fifth semester of enrollment.

Fisk will be responsible for selecting students for exchange and will forward all required documentation to Case Western Reserve. Students chosen by Fisk shall normally be accepted by Case Western Reserve; however, each institution reserves the right to decline admission. Fisk students will register as non-degree, full-time students at Case Western Reserve and will be free to take courses if at an appropriate level and subject to the agreement of the department involved. Each university will inform the other of any departments that have restricted access. Fisk students will be subject to the rules, regulations, and discipline of Case Western Reserve.

Fisk students will pay tuition and room/board costs at their home university. Fisk students studying at Case Western Reserve will receive a Fisk Visiting Student Subsistence Award from Case Western Reserve, if necessary, which will be applied to additional room and board costs at Case Western Reserve. Exchange students are responsible for the following expenditures: travel expenses, course fees (such as fieldwork costs, for which a non-exchange student would be liable), travel and medical insurance, medical expenses not covered by insurance, textbooks, personal expenses, and all other debt incurred during the course of the exchange period.

Upon completion of the student's academic period of exchange, Case Western Reserve will send an official transcript of credits to Fisk. Fisk students must authorize the release of their before leaving Case Western Reserve. Responsibility for the transfer of Case Western Reserve's credits rest with Fisk.
